An Overview

Menard County's regional/comprehensive plan is implemented by two ordinances; the zoning ordinance and the subdivision code. The two ordinances regulate different things.

The zoning ordinance regulates the "use" of land. The subdivision ordinance regulates the "division" of land.

The zoning code regulates location of buildings on lots. The subdivision code regulates the creation of lots.

The zoning code requires certain on-site features, like yards and parking areas, in connection with specified uses. The subdivision code enumerates what public streets, utilities and services must be provided to serve newly created lots.

The zoning ordinance divides the county into zoning districts, lists permitted and special uses authorized in each district and establishes bulk regulations that control setbacks, the location of buildings on lots, yards, building height and intensity of use. The subdivision code establishes minimum requirements for lot size, lot shape, block size, block shape, street right-of-way dedication requirements, standards for construction of streets, water supply and distribution systems, septic and sanitary sewer systems, storm sewers and storm water drainage systems, and storm water detention facilities. The code also establishes public land dedication requirements for parks, storm water detention facilities, and schools.

The zoning code recognizes that any use of land impacts the use of adjoining property. Subdivision regulations recognize that when any single piece of land is divided into two or more parts with separate ownership, there is a likelihood that the land will be used more intensively after the division than it was before the division. There will be two or more owners, two or more principal uses, and two or more times the activity associated with the parcel of land than there was prior to the division.

The County's zoning regulations provide a method for public involvement in determining appropriate locations for specific land uses. The County's subdivision regulations provide a method for public involvement when land is divided to insure that the burdens imposed by the activity generated from the subdivision will be born by the subdivider.

Zoning and subdivision codes regulate different things. Each plays an important part in guiding the growth and development of the County.

ARTICLE I

§1.01 TITLE. This ordinance is the zoning ordinance of Menard County. References in this document to “the zoning code”, “the zoning ordinance”, “this code”, or “this ordinance” shall be deemed to be references to the zoning ordinance of Menard County as amended from time to time.

§1.02 SOURCE OF AUTHORITY. This code is adopted pursuant to legislative authorization codified at 55 ILCS 5/5-12001 et.seq. and other applicable statutory provisions.

This code has been adopted as a comprehensive amendment to a previously existing zoning ordinance (ordinance # , originally adopted on _____, 19____). This is not an initial or original zoning ordinance as described in 55 ILCS 5/5-12007, but is an amendment to such an ordinance.

Intergovernmental Relations

Menard County has adopted a comprehensive plan, zoning ordinance and subdivision regulations. Petersburg, Athens, and Greenview have also adopted comprehensive plans, zoning ordinances and subdivision regulations. No other municipality in Menard County has adopted ordinances regulating land use.

The interrelationship between the various governmental land use regulations can be summarized as follows:

1. zoning and subdivision matters within Petersburg, Athens, and Greenview: by Petersburg, Athens, and Greenview exclusively;
2. zoning matters including zoning and occupancy permits in Menard County outside Petersburg, Athens, and Greenview, (including decisions within the corporate limits of any other municipality) by Menard County. Petersburg, Athens, and Greenview have “protest” powers pursuant to Section 55 ILCS 5/5 12014, for zoning matters within 1 ½ miles of their corporate limits;
3. subdivision regulations in Menard County within 1 ½ mile of Petersburg, Athens, and Greenview: both sets of regulations apply. The subdivision must be approved by both the County and the applicable municipality. The higher or more demanding standard applies;
4. subdivision regulations in Menard County more than 1 ½ miles from Petersburg, Athens, and Greenview: by Menard County exclusively;
5. the existence of an annexation agreement (pursuant to 65 ILCS 5/11-15.1-1) does not limit or curtail the rights of Menard County. Such agreements, depending on their provisions, may confer land use authority, by contract, on the municipality where it would not otherwise exist;
6. the County, Municipalities and other units of local government may transfer powers by intergovernmental agreements pursuant to Article 7 & 10 of the Illinois Constitution and 5 ILCS 220/1 et seq.

§1.03 EFFECTIVE DATE. This code is effective January 1, 1999.

§1.04 STYLE. The substantive provisions are set forth in the text of this ordinance. Background, explanatory and illustrative material is set forth in text and drawings that are shaded.

§1.05 PURPOSES. This code is adopted for the following purposes:

- A. to implement the County’s comprehensive/regional plan;
- B. to exercise statutory zoning authority;
- C. to protect and promote the public health, safety, morals, comfort and general welfare;
- D. to protect and promote the “public interest”.

Public Interest

A word about the “public interest”. The County Commissioners are elected representatives of “the people”. Planning Commission and Zoning Board of Appeals members are appointed by elected officials to conduct hearings, make recommendations and in some cases make final decisions on the “public’s” business. The Zoning Administrator is a “public” servant. Zoning regulations, like all laws, are intended to protect and promote the “public interest” – often described as “public health, safety, morals comfort general welfare”.

Who is the “public” and what is the “public interest”?

The landowner is part of the public. The developer is part of the public. Each neighbor is part of the public. An advocate with a particular “cause” is part of the public. But no one individual or group is the public generally. The general public includes those who don’t care about any particular zoning decision and those who trust elected and appointed officials to “protect and promote” their interest without their presence or active participation.

The public interest isn’t determined by counting noses. It is not appropriate to decide land use matters based on the following rationale: “since there is only one developer and fifteen objectors, we’ll go with the objectors”. Unpleasant land uses, if necessary for the general public good, have to be “somewhere” and “somewhere” is generally seen as someone’s backyard. Society needs gravel pits, asphalt plants, landfills, prisons, power plants, inexpensive housing, apartment buildings, mobile home parks and church bells. Certainly, such uses meet a public need but not every proposal needs to be approved. Sometimes the “public interest”, is best served by denying a specific request. The “public “ is all of the people including generations to come, not just those with a vested interest in the particular matter then under consideration. The “public interest” is decision making aimed at fulfilling society’s needs and providing the protection that society generally deserves and expects. Land use decisions often involve a balancing of rights. Land use decisions are not easy.

§2.01 INTERPRETATION.

- A. In their interpretation and application, the provisions of this code shall be held to be the minimum requirements deemed necessary for the promotion of the public health, safety, and general welfare.
- B. This code is not intended to abrogate any easement, covenant, or other private agreement but if the requirements of this code are more restrictive than such easements, covenants, or private agreements, the requirements of the code shall govern.
- C. The County of Menard does not enforce private deed restrictions, covenants, or agreements through its zoning code.
- D. To the extent that a building, structure or use not lawfully existing at the time of the adoption of this code is in conflict with the requirements of the code, that building, structure or use shall remain unlawful subject to §2.02 A.
- E. Where conditions imposed by any provision of this code are either more or less restrictive than conditions imposed by any other provisions of any other law, ordinance, resolution, rule or regulation applicable to property or to the use of property the regulation which is more restrictive or which imposes the higher standard or requirement shall govern.
- F. If any part or provision of this code or the application of this code to any person or circumstances is adjudged invalid by any court of competent jurisdiction, the judgment shall be confined in its operation to the part, provision, or application directly involved in the controversy in which the judgment shall be rendered and it shall not affect or impair the validity of the remainder of these regulations or the application of them to other persons or circumstances. The Menard County Commissioners hereby declare that they would have enacted the remainder of these regulations even without any such part, provisions, or application, which is judged to be invalid.

§2.02 EXCEPTIONS AND TRANSITIONAL PROVISIONS.

- A. Amnesty Provisions. Prior to the adoption of this code a variety of buildings, structures and uses have been established with the authorization and/or acquiescence of the County in ways that violated or arguably violated the provisions of prior zoning regulations. It is the intent of this code to henceforth consider all such buildings, structures and uses that do not meet the requirements of this code to be lawful but non-conforming under the provisions of this code.

- B. Buildings Under Construction. Where construction of a building has been lawfully commenced prior to the effective date of this code, and provided that construction is diligently pursued, the building may be completed and occupied as originally intended. Such buildings and uses shall be subject to the provisions of this Code pertaining to non-conformities if it is not in conformity with the provisions of this code.

- C. Uses and Structures. The following uses are permitted in all districts: light poles, traffic regulatory signs, directional signs, street name signs, utility poles, wires, cables, conduits, vaults, laterals, pipes, mains, valves, railroad right-of-way containing railroad tracts, public rights-of way, gas regulator stations, sewage lift stations, water wells and pumping stations, when located underground.

- D. Height Regulations. The following uses and structure are exempted from the height regulations in this code: appurtenances usually required to be placed above the roof level and not intended for human occupancy such as: church spires, belfries, cupolas, antennas, water tanks, flag poles, public monuments, and ventilators.

§2.03 REGULATORY PROVISIONS.

It shall be unlawful for any person:

- A. to use or develop or permit the use or development of any property except in compliance with this code;
- B. to cause or permit any contiguous property (public roads, streets, and alleys shall act as a demarcation line for purposes of determining contiguity. - i.e., lots/parcels owned by an entity but located across a public road from a lot/parcel owned by the same entity shall be deemed to be separate and distinct lots/parcels) in common ownership or unified control to be devoted to more than one principal use provided, however:
 - 1. lawful nonconformities involving multiple or mixed principal uses may be continued but not expanded
 - 2. any conforming platted lot may be used or developed for a principal use separate from the principal use of the remaining contiguous property in common ownership or unified control
 - 3. any combination of non-conforming platted lots which create a conforming parcel may be used or developed for a principal use separate from the principal use of the remaining contiguous property in common ownership or unified control.

Common Ownership or Unified Control

Tom and Susie Smith own 3 acres in Tallula. The property lays out as follows:

15	16	17	2.59

Smiths acquired lot 15 in 1963, that lot is 50' x 100'. They acquired lot 16 in 1973, that lot is 75' x 100'. They acquired lot 17 in 1973, that lot is 50' x 100' and they acquired a 2.59 acre piece in 1980 when Tom inherited it at the death of his father. Lots 15, 16, and 17 are platted lots. The 2.59 acre piece has never been subdivided and is described by a metes and bounds description. The property is all vacant. The Land is zoned R-1 and single family residential use is permitted on parcels containing 7500 square feet.

Tom and Susie want to build as many houses as they can. What are their options?

- I. The zoning administrator first needs to determine what property is in "common ownership and unified control". The zoning administrator should review title information, tax records, and other information on historical use to make the determination. Assuming the zoning administrator determines that all the property is in common ownership and/or unified control, the following is possible:
 - A. Smiths can use all 3 acres for one principal use;
 - B. Smiths can not use the 2.59 acre parcel alone because it is not a "platted lot" and does not constitute all property in single ownership or unified control;
 - C. Smiths can not use either Lot 15 or 17 alone because they are not "conforming" lots';
 - D. Smiths could use lot 16 alone but to do so they would leave Lot 15 unbuildable; since that lot would not meet the minimum code requirements of the R-1 districts and would not be adjacent to any contiguous property in common ownership or unified control;
 - E. Smiths may use Lot 15 and one-half of Lot 16 and Lot 17 and the remainder of Lot 16 as home sites, each resulting combination of platted lots meets the minimum 60' lot width and 7500 square foot lot size requirements;
 - F. Assuming Smiths sell off lots 15, 16 and 17, they can use the remainder of the property for one additional building site since it represents all remaining contiguous property of an ownership or unified control and is a "conforming" parcel;
 - G. If Smiths can lawfully convey utilizing an "exception to the County's subdivision regulations: the "common ownership and unified control: of the tract will end and the piece conveyed can be used by the new title holder;
 - H. Smiths can "subdivide" under the County's subdivision regulations to create additional "platted lots".

- C. to "develop" property without first obtaining a zoning permit;
- D. to "occupy" newly developed property without first obtaining an occupancy permit;
- E. to use any part of a lot, yard or other open space of off-street parking required in connection with one use for the purpose of causing or attempting to cause another use to comply with this code;
- F. to violate or fail to meet any condition, requirement or prerequisite in the issuance or approval of any special use permit, or variation;

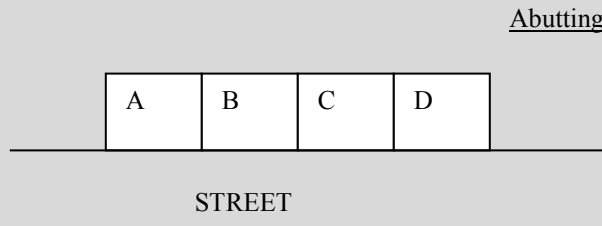

- G. to knowingly submit false, inaccurate, or deceptive material in any complaint, or any application for a zoning permit, occupancy permit, special use permit, variation, appeal, text amendment or map amendment, or in any public hearing conducted pursuant to this code.
- H. To violate any provision of this code.

“How To Describe Land”

Land is described in a variety of ways. In some instances, its description is based on ownership; in some cases, on use and, in some cases, on the extent of “governmental” involvement leading to the creation of the description. The Menard County Zoning Ordinance uses a number of terms to describe land and its ownership.

The most general term is “property”. That term is defined as “real property or any interest in real property”. Individual ownership, joint tenancy, tenancy in common and tenancy by the entirety are terms used to describe ways in which property is titled. Those terms don’t have much relevance to the zoning ordinance. Fee simple, life estates, remainder interest, easements, and licenses are terms used to describe a “quality of ownership”. Those descriptions also don’t have much relevance to a zoning ordinance. The terms “parcel”, “lot of record”, “platted lots”, “outlot”, and “lot”, are terms that describe governmental involvement prior to the creation of the description. These are important terms the meaning of which needs to be understood.

If land has not been subdivided and a final subdivision plat recorded, the description of a piece of property is usually by a metes and bounds description and the tract is referred to as a “parcel” in the Menard County Zoning Ordinance.

If land has been subdivided and a final subdivision plat recorded, an individual piece of property that results from the subdivision and can therefore be lawfully conveyed is either a lot of record (or platted lot) or an outlot. Lots of record (or platted lots) are buildable (outlots are not buildable).

“Lot” is a term that includes both “parcels” and “lots of record” (or “platted lots”). The term “lot” is ordinarily used to describe a piece of property devoted to a single principal use.

The phrase “unified ownership or control” is used to describe parcels acquired at separate times by the same controlling entity. Menard County’s subdivision regulations and this code prohibit property “in unified ownership or control” from being resold into separate ownership without being subdivided or from being used or developed for multiple separate principal uses unless such a division is authorized as an exception to the subdivision code or multiple use is authorized by this code.

It shall be unlawful for any person to park a motor vehicle or for the owner of a lot to permit such vehicle to remain parked at a location where off-street parking spaces would be prohibited by this section. When any vehicle shall be parked in violation of any provision of this section, the person in whose name the vehicle is registered shall be prima facie responsible for such violation and subject to the penalties therefor. Defenses to the prima facie case shall be limited to a showing that the vehicle was not parked illegally or that the individual was not the registered owner at the time of the alleged violation.

Each required parking space shall open directly upon an aisle, a driveway, or a public-way of such width and design as to provide safe and efficient means of vehicular access and egress to such parking space at all times. Each off-street parking space proposed for a commercial or industrial establishment in the B-1, B-2 or M-1 zoning districts are encouraged to delineate its exact location. In no case shall the dimensions of such parking space area be less than eighteen (18) feet by nine (9) feet.

Agricultural District

Menard County has a wide variety of land uses located in rural area outside its cities, villages, and towns. Some are clearly “residential”, i.e. principally homes for families whose livelihood comes from sources other than the property on which they reside. The fact that they maintain a large garden, own a tractor, send their kids to rural schools and think of themselves as “landed gentry” or “farmers” doesn’t change their home into a farm or convert the principal use of their property from residential to agricultural.

At the other extreme, there are some rural land uses that are clearly commercial in nature. While they may involve endeavors that support or complement the farming community they are first and foremost service or production facilities, not farms. Illustrative examples include commercial grain elevators, agricultural equipment sales and service centers, seed dealers, chemical dealers, processing plants, slaughterhouses, agricultural produce sale or distributorships.

Between these two extremes is the type of “farming operation” that Menard County seeks to encourage and preserve through its agricultural zoning regulations. The typical farm in Menard County is both a home and a livelihood; a place of residence and a place of business.

There are certain things that are commonly associated with, or accessory to, a farm. There are certain things that are not.

Single-family residences for families engaged in farming operations are expected. Strip development of 5+ acre homesites along a road on the perimeter of a farm is not.

Buildings for the storage, maintenance, and repair of farm equipment is expected. Commercial, automobile and truck service and repair shops are not.

Inside and outside storage of farm equipment is expected. Fields of rusting or rotting junk, automobile salvage yards and sales lots are not.

§6.04 RR - RURAL RESIDENTIAL DISTRICT REGULATIONS.

A. Purpose and Intent:

The purpose of the rural residential district is to provide for residential uses at low densities in predominantly agricultural areas on soils that because of their size, shape, slope, fertility, or land cover are poorly suited to agricultural use but well suited to residential use. In and about such districts, it is recognized that agriculture remains the preferred land use and that residents therein should expect to encounter the noise, heat, dust, odors, late night/early morning operations, fertilization and pest management practices that are common in modern farm operations.

B. The following principal uses are permitted:

1. Farms including permitted accessory buildings and land uses authorized in the A-Agricultural District for farms subject to the following additional regulations:
 - a) Only one single family dwelling shall be allowed on lots of less than twenty (20) acres. On lots of twenty (20) acres or more, additional dwelling units intended at the time of original occupancy for family members or tenants engaged in the farming operation, or other agricultural housing for seasonal workers shall be allowed.
2. Single family dwelling, mobile home dwelling unit as defined in §6.13 (Mobile & Manufactured Home Regulations) or modular dwelling unit with no farm uses or agricultural purposes. The following additional accessory uses shall be allowed:

Rural Residential District

People enjoy the beauty of rivers, lakes, streams, forest, and rolling topography and often seek to live in a rural setting outside the county's incorporated areas. Families appreciate rural values; they want to be able to "work a little ground", keep an animal or two and have space between them and their neighbors.

Since not all land is suitable for productive agricultural use, some can appropriately be used for residential purpose. Soil quality, slope, configuration, and drainage patterns influence productivity and are factors that should be devoted to other purposes. Just as all land is not suitable for agricultural purposes, all land is not suitable for residential use. Some land should be retained privately in its natural state; some should be acquired and preserved for the enjoyment of the public generally. Rivers and streams flood, forest require integrity and continuity to provide natural habitat, slopes erode and human occupancy, especially unregulated and irresponsible human occupancy, tends to blight and pollute. What was once pristine, natural, beautiful, and attractive becomes marred, artificial, ugly and undesirable. That's not what the County wants to encourage.

Menard County has experienced and expects to experience increased pressure for residential development. While the County's comprehensive plan encourages that development to occur primarily in or near the County's incorporated areas (where the logical extension of municipal services seems more likely), the rural residential zoning district recognizes that not all residential development will occur in cities, villages and towns and that the careful use of unproductive or less productive rural areas for residential purposes is appropriate.

R-1 Single Family Residence District

The Menard County comprehensive plan suggests that residential development is most appropriate in or near the County's incorporated cities, villages and towns where the extension of municipal services seems most likely. The R-1 zoning district is the district that is intended to accommodate that type of residential development.

Permissible densities in the R-1 district are higher than in the Rural Residential District because public utilities are in place and immediately available or more likely to become available as development occurs.

Increased density puts people in closer day to day contact with one another. The activities on one owner's property are more likely to generate an impact and effect the use and enjoyment of a neighbor's property. For that reason, the R-1 district contains more stringent land use regulations. Everyone gives up a little "freedom" to live harmoniously in closer proximity.

Many people live in residential settings other than in single family detached homes. Some rent, some own. The R-3 Residence District is intended to permit attached housing and at densities higher than permitted in the single family residence district. Recognizing that people in the R-3 District living in closer proximity to one another than is customary in the single family districts, the R-3 District authorizes some office and commercial uses by special use permit. The R-3 District often serves as a transition district between single family and commercial or manufacturing uses or zoning districts.

B-1 District

The Menard County comprehensive plan suggests that general commercial activity be encouraged to locate in or near the County's incorporated cities, villages, and towns or along certain highways which facilitate the safe and efficient movement of traffic. The B-1 Downtown Business-zoning district is intended to accommodate commercial development in the county's incorporated areas.

In the B-1 Downtown Business zoning district, businesses are located close to other businesses often sharing party walls and common parking lots. The perimeter of the downtown's business zoning district often abuts or is in close proximity to residential land uses. Given this proximity, the noise, smell, lights and activity generated by one use may spill over and impact adjoining and nearby properties. Minimizing the potential for such conflict is a goal of the district regulations applicable in the B-1 Downtown Business Zoning District.

B-2 Highway Business District

Highways provide the principal transportation network for the people of Menard County. The County's comprehensive plan recognizes the need to preserve the County's principal highways as traffic carriers and to discourage land uses on abutting property that create traffic congestion and hazards to the motoring public. The plan also acknowledges that commercial development, particularly commercial development that serves the motoring public and/or requires delivery or distribution of goods and services by motor vehicle, is most appropriately located on the County's highway network. The B-2 highway business-zoning district is intended to accommodate that commercial need.

In the B-2 highway business district, development is ordinarily on a lot-by-lot basis. Land uses are generally separated from other land uses with each providing its own driveway entrance, parking areas and signage. The district zoning regulations in the B-2 highway business district focus on required setbacks, off-street parking, the visual impact land uses have on adjoining property and the general public and traffic safety.

M-1 Manufacturing District

Menard County does not have a large number of manufacturing or industrial land uses and does not expect much activity of that type. To the extent that particular businesses do engage in manufacturing activities, the activities tend to be on small-scattered sites throughout the County.

The Comprehensive Plan recognizes the large manufacturing or industrial uses providing an economic benefit through the creation of jobs and the generation of tax revenues also have a significant impact on surrounding land uses than do most other commercial activities of a retail or service nature. The M-1 Manufacturing district is the zoning district intended to accommodate industrial and/or manufacturing uses to the extent that such development occurs.

Public Lands District

Menard County recognizes that it is not the only government responsible to the people of the County. A number of other governmental and quasi-governmental organizations exist that own and use property in Menard County. The State owns substantial areas, school districts own and operate facilities, road districts, cemetery associations, and other areas of local government have, and use, land in the County.

While the County retains an appropriate role in setting such facilities, the County recognizes that the Owner, rather than the County, should be principally responsible for the operational aspects of the development that occurs on site. The public lands zoning district is designed to accommodate such public or quasi-public land uses.

§6.11 PLANNED UNIT DEVELOPMENT (PUD)

A. Purpose and Intent:

The purpose of the Planned Unit Development Regulations is to encourage and allow for more creativity and flexibility in the development of land than is possible under conventional zoning district regulations. The Planned Unit Development provides for more efficient use of the land and encourages development practices that are more sensitive to the site and surrounding environment. It is further intended that Planned Unit Developments are to be characterized by centralized ownership, integrated planning and architecture, joint or common use of parking, maintenance of open space and other similar facilities, and an appropriate selection and utilization of services.

1. The following objectives may be obtained through the use of the Planned Unit Development procedure:
 - a. To permit the public a greater choice of development options than would be possible under the strict application of the other sections of this Ordinance;
 - b. To promote the preservation of natural features and/or prime agricultural land;
 - c. To encourage development that is rational and economical in relation to public infrastructure and services;
 - d. To create a method for the permanent preservation of common open space; and
 - e. To encourage a land use which promotes the public health, safety, comfort, and welfare.
2. The unique and substantially different character of Planned Unit Developments requires their administrative processing as a “special use” in the ordinance. Planned Unit Developments are more complex and of a different character than other special uses, requiring the establishment herein of specific and additional procedures, standards, and exceptions to govern the recommendations of the Zoning Board of Appeals and the action of the County Board.

B. General Provisions of PUDs: The basic provisions and requirements concerning Planned Unit Developments are as follows:

1. The subdivision, development and use of land as an integral unit, combining one or more of the following land uses which may provide for a single family residential, multiple family residential, educational, business, commercial, industrial, recreational, park and common open areas, may be described as a Planned Unit Development.
2. In its establishment and authorization as a special use, the procedures, requirements, restrictions, standards, and conditions listed in this chapter shall be observed.
3. The Residential Planned Unit Development is authorized as a Special Use in the RR, R-1, R-3, and B-1 Districts of this Ordinance and may contain mixed uses, provided that:
 - a. The non-residential structures comprise only ten percent (10%) of the square footage of the residential structures;

- b. The non-residential use is of a type that is either allowed by right or by special use in the underlying district; and
 - c. Non-residential uses shall be clustered wherever practicable.
4. The non-residential Planned Unit Development is authorized as a Special Use in the B-1, B-2 and M-1 Districts of this Ordinance.

C. Procedures and Requirements for Establishment of a Planned Unit Development:

1. An application for a Special Use permit shall be filed and processed by the Zoning Office in accordance with §10.01 SPECIAL USE REGULATIONS of this code.
2. Planned Unit Development Plat – The Special Use permit application shall be accompanied by a Planned Unit Development Plat, which meets the Preliminary Plat requirements of the Subdivision Ordinance in addition to the following:
 - a. The entire outline, overall dimensions and area of the tract described in the application.
 - b. The location, general dimensions and approximate gross floor areas of all proposed buildings.
 - c. The type of each use proposed to occupy each building and the approximate amount of building floor area devoted to each separate use.
 - d. The proposed location, arrangement and number of automobile parking spaces.
 - e. The location and dimensions of all vehicular entrances, exits, and driveways and their relationship to all existing or proposed public roads.

 - h. Standards for exterior lighting, location and type of exterior signs, and any other variables which will be controlled in the design of buildings in the development area.
 - i. Development Schedule – The applicant shall submit a proposed schedule of construction. If the construction of the proposed Planned Unit Development is to be in stages, then the components obtained in each stage must be clearly delineated. The development schedule shall indicate the starting date and the complete development plan.
 - j. It is the intent of the Code to require subdivision of property simultaneous with application for Special Use. The subdivision and/or platting of land as a planned unit development shall be subject to the requirements for approval and recording with the Menard County Recorder of Deeds as have been established by the Menard County Subdivision Ordinance adopted January 1, 1999.

D. General Development Provisions:

1. Setbacks – The front, rear and side setback shall be the same as the district in which they are located.

 - c. Fifteen (15) feet between buildings, other than single-family detached dwellings.
3. Roadways – All roads shall be public roads, no private roads shall be permitted. Road design and specifications shall be in accordance with the Menard County Subdivision Ordinance.
4. Subdivision and Ownership – It shall be permissible within a Planned Unit Development to subdivide properties into lesser size parcels for individual ownership and create common open space areas in undivided proportions under joint ownerships. Such ownership arrangements are commonly defined as condominium and/or cooperative developments. The joint area of the project must, however, conform to the minimum area requirements established for the respective district.
5. Minimum Project size – Residential or commercial Planned Unit Developments shall not be applied to a parcel of land containing less than 5 acres.

E. Review and Evaluation:

- a) Standards – The Zoning Board of Appeals may recommend approval of a Planned Unit Development Special Use application if it has determined that all the of the following standards have been complied with:

In addition, the Planned Unit Development shall not endanger the public health, welfare, or safety, nor shall it substantially diminish or impair property values in the neighborhood in which it is to be located.
 - d. Need – the Planned Unit Development must be of a character and contain such uses that are needed in the area of the proposed project.
 - e. Density – the density of a Planned Unit Development (either in dwelling units for residential uses, or in floor area – for all other uses) shall generally correspond to the density regulations imposed by the underlying zoning district. The density of the Planned Unit Development is not necessarily required to precisely correspond with the normal density of the underlying zoning district but instead should reflect that district’s character through complimentary building types and architectural design.

- f. Design Standards – the Planned Unit Development shall comply with the provisions of the Menard County Subdivision Ordinance and Zoning Ordinance unless otherwise agreed to and approved by the County Board.
- g. A sufficient amount of usable open space is provided.

Changes to the recorded Planned Unit Development may be made as follows:

- a. Major Changes – All major changes, including but not limited to ones listed herein below, shall be reviewed by the Zoning Administrator and Zoning Board of Appeals, and final approval shall rest with the County Board. An amended preliminary or final plat shall be submitted with accompanying supporting documentation. If changes are submitted prior to approval of a Final Plat, the procedure shall begin at the Preliminary Plat stage. If changes are submitted after approval of a Final Plat, the procedure shall begin at the Final Plat stage.  - d) Any facility located in a special flood hazard area or wetland should meet the legal requirements for those lands.
 - e) Existing trees more than 3 inches in diameter should be preserved if reasonably feasible during construction. If any tree more than 3 inches in diameter is removed during construction a tree 3 inches or more in diameter of the same or a similar species shall be planted as a replacement if reasonably feasible. Tree diameter shall be measured at a point 3 feet above ground level.
 - f) If any elevation of a facility faces an existing, adjoining residential use within a residential zoning district, low maintenance landscaping should be provided on or near the facility lot to provide at least partial screening of the facility.
 - g) Fencing should be installed around a facility. The height and materials of the fencing should be in accordance with any county fence regulations of general applicability.
 - h) Any building that is part of a facility located adjacent to a residentially zoned lot should be designed with exterior materials and colors that are reasonably compatible with the residential character of the area.
 - i) A facility may be located on the same zoning lot as one or more other structures or uses without violating any ordinance or regulation that prohibits or limits multiple structures, buildings, or uses on a zoning lot.
 - j) No minimum lot area, width, or depth shall be required for a facility, and unless the facility is to be manned on a regular, daily basis, no off-street parking spaces shall be required for a facility. If the facility is to be manned on a regular, daily basis, one off-street parking space shall be provided for each employee regularly at the facility. No loading facilities are required.
 - k) No bulk regulations or lot coverage, building coverage, or floor area ratio limitations shall be applied to a facility or to any existing use or structure coincident with the establishment of a facility. Except as provided in this Section, no height limits or restrictions shall apply to a facility.
4. Unless a facility is permitted under paragraph (1) of this subsection (B), a facility can be established only after the county board gives its approval following consideration of the provisions of paragraph (5) of this subsection (B). The county board may give its approval after one public hearing on the proposal, but only by the favorable vote of a majority of the members present at a meeting held no later than 75 days after submission of a complete application by the telecommunications carrier. If the county board fails to act on the application within 75 days after its submission, the application shall be deemed to have been approved. No more than one public hearing shall be required.

5. For purposes of paragraph (4) of this subsection (B), the following site considerations, but no other matter, shall be considered by the county board or any other body conducting the public hearing:
 - a) the criteria in paragraph (2) of this subsection (B);
 - b) whether a substantial adverse effect on public safety will result from some aspect of the facility's design or proposed construction, but only if that aspect of design or construction is modifiable by the applicant;
 - c) the benefits to be derived by the users of the services to be provided or enhanced by the facility and whether public safety and emergency response capabilities would benefit by the establishment of the facility;
 - d) the existing uses on adjacent and nearby properties; and
 - e) the extent to which the design of the proposed facility reflects compliance with paragraph (3) of this subsection (B).

ARTICLE VII

§7.01 AMENDMENTS OF REGULATIONS AND DISTRICTS

Zoning Amendments

A property owner owns property zoned R-1, Residence District. He wants to build and operate a convenience store. The zoning code only authorizes convenience stores in the B-1, Downtown Business District and the B-2 Highway Business District. The Code also authorizes gas stations, nightclubs, and a number of other “more objectionable” uses in those zoning districts.

The applicant appears before the Zoning Board of Appeals and “promises” that if the property is zoned a B-1, he will operate a convenience store from a facility that looks exactly like the one depicted in the beautiful color rendering he presented at the Zoning Board of Appeals meeting. He also promises to operate the facility himself in a “good Neighborly” fashion and states unequivocally that he won’t ever use the property in a way that is objectionable to his neighbors.

Several neighbors appeared at the Zoning Board of Appeals hearing. They agree that a convenience store like the one the applicant proposes would be a nice addition to their neighborhood. They would not, however, want a gas station or a nightclub. They also trust their friend and neighbor but wouldn’t have the same comfort level if the applicant were some out-of-town institutional owner. Can the County Commissioners grant a rezoning to B-1 in a way that requires the applicant to use the property in a way he “promises”?

Generally, zoning can’t be “conditioned” or be made “contingent” upon certain things happening. If the property is rezoned, it can be used for any purpose authorized in the new zoning classification. Similarly, zoning isn’t limited to the particular “applicant” but runs with the land and is available to any subsequent owner.

What other options might be available?

1. Use a piece of ground already zoned B-1
2. Amend the text of the zoning ordinance to permit convenience stores in the residentially zoned areas either as a permitted or special use.
3. If the text amendment is made to make convenience stores a permitted use in the R-1 District, the applicant (or any other person) can then proceed as a matter of right (at that or any other location zoned residential).
4. If the text amendment is made to make convenience stores a special use in the R-1 District, the text amendment will enumerate standards that must be met. The applicant, or any other person, can then make applications for a special use permit at that or any other location zoned residential. If after public hearing before the Zoning Board of Appeals that applicant satisfies the Zoning Board of Appeals and County Commissioners that the standards set fourth in the Zoning Code for the special use permit have been met, then the permit issued, and a convenience store can be built as proposed. (see special use Permit example)

A. Authority. To accomplish the purposes of this Code, the Board of County Commissioners may, from time to time, in the manner hereinafter set fourth, amend the regulations and the Zoning Districts established by this Code, provided that in all amendments adopted under the authority of this Section, due allowance shall be made for the existing condition, the conservation of property values, the direction of building development to the best advantages of the entire County and the use to which the property is devoted at the time of the adoption of such amendments.

B. Initiation of Amendment. Amendments to the districts established hereby may be proposed by the County Commissioners, the Zoning Administrator at the direction of the County Commissioners, or by the owners of, or parties to a valid and enforceable purchase option contract applicable to, the property proposed for rezoning. Amendments to the regulations imposed hereby, that is, zoning text amendments, may be proposed by the County Commissioners, by the Zoning Administrator at the direction of the County Commissioners.

C. Procedure.

1. Application for Amendment. All requests for zoning amendments other than those submitted by or at the direction of the County Commissioners shall henceforth only be accepted when filed on proper application forms submitted to the Zoning Administrator and upon payment of the required fee. When such applications are required, the information requested on them is deemed to be a minimum and applicants may be requested to supply additional information prior to the hearings on their requests. Such forms shall be filed in duplicate as prerequisite to the commencement of any such action on the part of Menard County. The Zoning Administrator shall, upon receipt of the properly completed applications for zoning amendments, forward a copy of the application to the Zoning Board of Appeals and Planning Commission.
2. Notification and Hearing Procedure. The Zoning Board of Appeals and Planning Commission shall give notice and hold legislative public hearings on each request for a zoning district or zoning text amendment, in the manner provided by Section XIII B3c of this Code.
3. Recommendation by the Zoning Board of Appeals & Planning Commission.
 - a. Text Amendments. In making its recommendation on zoning text amendments, the Zoning Board of Appeals and Planning Commission shall endeavor to accomplish those purposes for which this Code was adopted and shall not recommend the adoption of an amendment unless it finds that such is in the public interest.
 - b. District Amendments. In making its recommendation on zoning district amendments, the Zoning Board of Appeals and Planning Commission shall be guided by those purposes for which this Code was adopted and in making its recommendation, may consider the following:
 - (1) The suitability of the subject property for uses authorized by the existing zoning;
 - (2) The length of time the property has remained vacant as zoned considered in the context of land development in the area;
 - (3) The suitability of the subject property for uses authorized by the proposed zoning;
 - (4) The existing land uses of nearby property;

- (5) Existing zoning of nearby property;
- (6) Relative gain or hardship to the public as contracted and compared to the hardship or gain of the individual property owner resulting from the approval or denial of the zoning amendment application.
- (7) Consistency with the Comprehensive Plan.
- (8) The following guidelines, in addition to the above, are applicable to amendments involving specific zoning districts:
 - (a) to or from the A-Agricultural District
 - (i) the predominant soil type and/or productivity of the land
 - (ii) the shape and configuration of the parcel
 - (iii) the slope, grade and topography including the likelihood of erosion
 - (iv) the proximity to flood hazard boundary areas
 - (b) to or from RR-Rural Residential
 - (i) the predominant soil type and/or productivity of the land

Even marginal or unproductive land may not be suitable for rezoning to RR-Rural Residential if:

- (a) the slope, grade and topography creates the likelihood of erosion,
- (b) the site is unsuited for private sewage disposal
- (c) the site is subject to flood hazard

SPOT ZONING

By its very nature, the RR-Rural Residential Zoning District will create isolated areas (spots) of land zoned for residential use in large areas of land otherwise zoned and used for agricultural purposes. It is the intent of the County Commissioners to determine the appropriateness (or inappropriateness) of requests for rezoning to the RR-Rural Residential District, principally on the productivity of the soil rather than on the use or zoning of surrounding property or other comparable standards or guidelines which would otherwise make “spot zoning” objectionable.

- (c) To or from R-1 Single Family Residence District:
 - (i) proximity to the corporate limits or a municipality
 - (ii) proximity to public water
 - (iii) proximity to public sanitary sewer
 - (iv) configuration, topography, suitability of soil and other factors that might influence or effect private sewage disposal systems
 - (v) proximity to property zoned or used for commercial, industrial or public lands purposes
 - (vi) proximity to public police, fire, rescue, library, school and park facilities

- (d) To or from R-3 Multiple Family Residence District
 - (i) proximity to the corporate limits of a municipality
 - (ii) proximity to public water
 - (iii) proximity to public sanitary sewer
 - (iv) proximity to police, fire, rescue, library, school and park facilities
 - (v) proximity to convenient shopping
 - (vi) proximity to commercial, industrial, or public lands uses
 - (vii) adequacy of adjacent public streets to handle traffic reasonably expected from multiple family development

- (e) To or from B-1 Downtown Business District
 - (i) proximity to other downtown commercial zoning and/or land uses
 - (ii) proximity to public parking

- (iii) adequacy of adjacent public streets for traffic reasonably expected to be generated from commercial use
 - (iv) proximity to residential zoning and/or land uses
- (f) To or from B-2 Highway Business District
 - (i) Size and configuration of the parcel and suitability of the parcel to provide on-site parking and all other reasonably expected accessory uses on site without impact on neighboring properties
 - (ii) proximity to other highway business uses
 - (iii) adequacy of adjacent public streets
 - (iv) proximity to residential development
- (g) To or from M-1 Manufacturing District
 - (i) size and configuration of all parcels and suitability of the parcel to accommodate all required parking and other reasonably expected accessory uses on site without impact on neighboring properties
 - (ii) proximity to public water and sanitary sewer
 - (iii) adequacy of adjacent public streets
 - (iv) prevailing wind direction
 - (v) proximity to residential development
- (h) To or from PL Public Lands District
 - (i) identity of the public body owning, using or developing the property
 - (ii) adequacy of adjacent public streets
 - (iii) proximity to public water and/or sanitary sewer
 - (iv) proximity to residential zoning or land uses

“Contract or Contingent Zoning”

Zoning regulations like most “police power” laws must treat similarly situated people and property essentially the same. Zoning codes divide the County into zoning districts and establish rules and regulations which are intended to apply fairly and uniformly within each district/ Predictability and consistency are goals of a zoning code. “Contract” zoning, “conditional” zoning or “rezonings with site-specific conditions are not uniform in their application. By their very nature they are zoning by agreement and as such are seen as an improper “bartering away” of government’s authority to regulate on behalf of the general public. Zoning law, in essence, becomes “let’s make a deal”. Menard County does not utilize contract or contingent zoning.

D. Decisions by the County Commissioners.

1. The County Commissioners upon receiving the report and recommendation of the Zoning Board of Appeals and Planning Commission, as an exercise of the legislative discretion vested in the Board of Commissioners of Menard County, may grant or deny the requested text or district amendment.
2. Parties (both proponents and opponents) to pending zoning matters should present evidence and make arguments in the established public hearing process in accordance with Rules of Procedure adopted by the Board and not outside that process.

Legislative Subjects For Inquiry

In considering requests for rezoning, it is appropriate for the Zoning Administrator, Zoning Board of Appeals, Planning Commission, and County Commissioners to ask questions like the following:

1. If this property is rezoned, are there things that can lawfully occur on adjoining or nearby property that will impact or harm uses that might lawfully occur on the property under consideration? Or stated in the reverse, if this property is rezoned, are there things that can lawfully occur on the rezoned property that will impact or harm uses that might occur on adjoining or nearby properties? Such “things” could include noise, light, dust, smell, water run-off, visual impact, traffic (both volume and type) and intensity of land use (again as a comparative measure).
2. Are there circumstances unique to the site under consideration that mitigates against such land use conflicts? “Circumstances, might include such things as topography, prevailing wind direction, site size, berming, landscaping, etc.
3. Does the proposed rezoning create a precedent that will be difficult to distinguish from other similar requests?
4. Does this rezoning move the County a way or direction consistent with the goals and objectives articulated by the County in the comprehensive plan and purpose and intent section of this ordinance?

3. In case of a written protest against any proposed district (map) amendment that is either: (A) signed by the owner or owners of at least 20% of the land to be rezoned, or (B) signed by the owner or owners of land immediately touching, or immediately across a street, alley, or public right-of-way from at least 20% of the perimeter of the land to be rezoned, or in cases where the land affected lies within 1 ½ miles of the limits of a zoned municipality, or in the case of a proposed text amendment to the Zoning Ordinance, by resolution of the corporate authorities of the zoned municipality with corporate authorities of the zoned municipality with limits nearest adjacent, filed with the County Clerk, such amendment shall not be passed except by the favorable vote of two-thirds of the County Commissioners. In such cases, a copy of the written protest shall be served by the protestor or protestors on the applicant for the proposed amendment and a copy upon the applicant's attorney, if any, by certified mail at the address of such applicant and attorney shown in the application for the proposed amendment.

ARTICLE VIII

§8.01 PERMITTING

A. Authority.

1. The issuance of a zoning permit by the Zoning Administrator is a pre-requisite to lawful development.
2. The issuance of an occupancy permit by the Zoning Administrator is a pre-requisite to the lawful use or occupancy of property.
3. No new permitting shall be required by the adoption of the code for the continuation of existing uses.
4. Permitting for land and buildings devoted to agricultural purposes shall be limited to determination of principal use and building and setback compliance. No permits shall be required for fences when the principal use of a property is a farm and devoted to agricultural purposes.

B. Initiation.

1. Zoning and occupancy permits may be requested by the owner of the property involved or any person authorized by the owner.

Permits Narrative

To insure compliance with the zoning code, Menard County requires a two-step permitting process for any new development. Development is defined broadly to include any new principal use and any new or modification of an existing principal or accessory building. The process includes:

1. The issuance of a zoning permit, i.e. authorization to devote land to a new use or develop land in a particular way. At this stage, the applicant must demonstrate to the satisfaction of the Zoning Administrator that the proposed development is or will be in compliance and conformance with the requirements of this code and shall include a certification from the owner to that effect.
2. The issuance of an occupancy permit authorizing the occupancy or use of land as described in an approved zoning permit. At this stage, the applicant must demonstrate to the satisfaction of the Zoning Administrator that the development has been constructed or converted in the manner described in the approved zoning permit. The application for an occupancy permit shall include a certification from the owner as to compliance with all applicable codes and requirements.

C. Procedure.

1. Application.
 - a. Zoning Permit – an application for a zoning permit shall be initiated by filing in duplicate a written permit application in the form required by the Zoning Administrator and the payment of the required fee. Upon receipt of a completed application and payment of the required fee, the Zoning Administrator shall process the request for a zoning permit.

- b. Occupancy Permit – an application for an occupancy permit shall be initiated by filing with the Zoning Administrator in duplicate a Certificate of Completion and Conformance and the payment of the required fee. Upon submission of an application for an occupancy permit and the payment of the required fee, the Zoning Administrator shall process the application for an occupancy permit.

D. Standards in Granting or Denying Permits.

1. The Zoning Administrator shall grant a zoning permit if the following standards are met and shall deny the permit if they are not:
 - a. property is appropriately zoned for the proposed use;
 - b. that any required special use permit or variation has been obtained;
 - c. that the proposed use conforms with all required bulk regulations;
 - d. that the proposed use complies with any conditions imposed by any approved special use permit, variation or site plan;
 - e. that the proposed use is otherwise in compliance with this code;
 - f. receipt of appropriate Health Department and appropriate road district or highway official signoff.
2. Occupancy permits shall be granted if the following standards are met and denied if one or more are not met:
 - a. that the use was built in conformance with the approved zoning permit;
 - b. that the use as built complies with the requirements of this code.
3. Permit applications not acted upon within 90 days from the date of their submission shall be deemed denied.
4. Decisions by the Zoning Administrator in granting or denying permits are subject to appeal under the provisions of this Ordinance.
5. Expiration. Zoning Permits will expire 90 days after issuance unless work has progressed and is being pursued with diligence. A request for an occupancy permit must be made within one year from the issuance of a zoning permit. If not, the zoning permit expires.

Other Permitting

Menard County is not the only governmental entity that regulates the use of land. It is the responsibility of the property owner and developer of the property to ascertain what other regulatory authorization is necessary in order to undertake development and to comply with all such regulations. It is not the responsibility of the Zoning Administrator or any other Menard County official to advise or assist owners or developers in achieving compliance. Property owners and developers are cautioned not to rely on any advice or assistance that is gratuitously offered. Public servants don't have the authority to relax, waive, or ignore the laws, codes or ordinances of the County or any other governmental entity and the general public generally can't be prevented from enforcing its laws or ordinances simply because of the acts or omissions of a public employee or official.

Owners and developers should pay particular attention to the following permitting responsibilities:

1. Applicable Road District Commissioner – Access, culvert location, drainage/detention and improvement obligation for District Roads
2. Menard County Engineer – Access, culvert location, drainage/detention and improvement obligation for County Highways
3. Illinois Department of Transportation – Access, culvert location, drainage/detention and improvement obligation for State Routes
4. Menard County Health Department (water wells and septic systems, all food and beverage handling)
5. Illinois Environmental Protection Agency – Community water and sewage treatment facilities and noise and air, water, and land quality regulation
6. Illinois Department of Natural Resources (IDNR) (flood plain permits, endangered species {520 ILCS 10/11 et seq.}) and Office of Mines and Minerals – permitting and operational aspects of mining/sand/gravel – The Illinois Endangered Species Protection Act requires consultation between local governments and IDNR where development authorized by local government is likely to jeopardize the existence of endangered species or habitat. Menard County places the responsibility for obtaining IDNR sign-off on the developer.
7. State of Illinois Historic Preservation Authority (historic preservation and artifact signoff)
8. Federal Emergency Management Agency (FEMA) (flood hazard boundaries)
9. Plat act compliance – Menard County Recorder of Deeds
10. County and Municipal subdivision regulation – applicable local official

ARTICLE IX

§9.01 NON-CONFORMITIES. If lawful lots, structures or uses are made unlawful by the adoption or amendment of this code they shall become non-conformities. It is the intent of this Code to permit non-conformities to continue until they are removed but not to encourage their survival. It is further the intent of this code that non-conformities shall not be enlarged upon, expanded, or extended, nor be uses as grounds for creating other unlawful lots, structures or uses except as permitted in this Article of the Zoning Code. There are three categories of nonconformity:

1. Lawfully created lots that do not meet the current size or configuration requirements of this Code.
2. Lawfully existing uses that are not permitted by this Code.
3. Lawfully existing buildings that do not meet the bulk requirements of this code.

A. Non-Conforming Lots.

1. In any district in which buildings or structures are permitted such buildings or structures may be erected on a lot which becomes non-conforming as to lot area or lot width or both by the adoption or amendment of this Code provided:
 - a. applicable yard requirements are met;
 - b. that if such non-conforming lot of record, at the time of adoption of this Code or amendment, is vacant and is contiguous with one or more other vacant conforming or non-conforming lot or lots which are in common ownership or unified control, then such contiguous lot or lots or at least such portion thereof as is necessary to meet or exceed the minimum lot area and width requirements of the district in which they are located shall be uses and developed only as a single lot.

See Common Ownership or Unified Control Example
§2.03 B3

2. Any person who conveys property or terminates the unified control of such contiguous lots of record so as to frustrate the purpose of the foregoing provision shall be deemed to have violated the provisions of this Code.
3. Converted farm residences may be split from existing non-conforming farm properties in the A-Agriculture District, provided that all bulk regulations applicable to converted farm residences are met and the remaining farm parcel is not less than one acre. The remaining non-conforming farm parcel, having been established after the adoption of this code on January 1, 1999 shall not be permitted to be used for residential purposes.

- B. Non-Conforming Uses. Where a lawful use exists at the effective date of adoption or amendment of this Code which would not be permitted by the regulations imposed, the use may be continued so long as it remains otherwise lawful, provided:
1. No such non-conforming use shall be enlarged or increased, nor extended to occupy a greater area of land or greater portion of any building than was occupied at the effective date of adoption or amendment of this code.
 2. No such non-conforming use shall be moved in whole or in part to any portion of the lot or parcel other than that occupied by such use at the effective date of adoption or amendment of this code.
 3. If any such non-conforming use of land alone ceases for any reason for a period of more than thirty (30) consecutive days, any subsequent use of such land shall conform to the regulations specified by this code for the district in which such land is located. This thirty (30) day time limitation shall be considered a bulk regulation and therefore subject to the variance process described in §12.01 VARIATIONS in this ordinance.
 4. When a non-conforming use of a structure, or structure and land in combination, ceases for eighteen (18) consecutive months or for eighteen (18) months during any three (3) year period the structure, or structure and land in combination, shall not thereafter be used except in conformity with the regulations of the district in which it is located. No intention to abandon shall be required. This eighteen (18) month time limitation shall be considered a bulk regulation and therefore subject to the variance process described in §12.01 VARIATIONS in this ordinance.
 5. Any conforming structure containing a non-conforming use, may be maintained and repaired.
 6. If any principal use of a lot in the A-Agricultural District or RR Rural Residential District is non-conforming as to lot area, width or configuration that use (including authorized accessory uses) may be repaired, replaced in the event of casualty loss, expanded and enlarged even if the extent of non-conformity in lot area is increased and provided the non-conformity is not increased in any other way.
- C. Non-Conforming Structures. Where a lawful structure exists at the effective date of adoption or amendment of this code which could not be built under the terms of this code by reasons of bulk restrictions, restrictions on lot coverage, height, yards, location on lot or other zoning requirements concerning the lot or structure, such structure may be continued so long as it remains otherwise lawful, subject to the following provisions:
1. A non-conforming structure may not be enlarged or altered in a way which increases its non-conformity, but may be enlarged or altered in a way that is conforming.

2. Any non-conforming structure may be maintained and repaired to an extent not exceeding fifty (50) percent of the fair cash market value of the structure before repair. Should a non-conforming structure deteriorate or be damaged or destroyed to an extent of more than fifty (50) percent of its prior fair cash market value it shall not be reconstructed except in conformity with the provisions of this Code. This provision shall not apply to Residential buildings in the A-Agricultural, RR Rural Residential or R-1 Single Family Residential districts or B-1 Downtown Business.
3. Should such non-conforming structure be moved for any reason for any distance whatever, it shall thereafter conform to the regulations for the district in which it is located after it is moved.

Non Conformities
Basic Facts

A 135' x 100' parcel of land with a metes and bounds description is zoned R-1 and is improved with a one-story 30' x 60' building. The building is used as a single-family owner-occupied residence. The building is 10' from the front property line and 2' from the side property line. A gravel driveway and parking lot with two spaces is on the west side of the building. The parking lot is located 25' from the front property line. The lot, use, and building were all established before Menard County has a zoning ordinance.

Analysis

1. The lot is lawful (it meets or exceeds the minimum lot size requirements in the R-1 zoning district).
2. The use is lawful (single family residential use is permitted in the R-1 zoning district).
3. The structure is lawful but non-conforming. It does not meet the front and side yard requirements of the new code. It does meet the rear yard and off-street parking requirements of the new code.

Altered Facts

1. Instead of an owner-occupant, the property is rented to a single mother with three children.

Altered Analysis

1. None, the renting of property does not change the analysis.

Altered Facts

1. The use is as a grocery store rather than as a single-family residence.

Altered Analysis

1. The use is lawful but non-conforming. Grocery stores are not a permitted use in the R-1 zoning district.
2. The structure is lawful but non-conforming. It does not meet the front and side yard requirements of the new code. It does meet the rear yard requirements. It does not meet the off-street parking requirements in that the new code required 6 (one space/300 sq. ft. of gross floor area – spaces for an 1800 square foot grocery store but only 3 are provided. The building could be expanded to the west. The building could be expanded to the north, provided the expansion was at least 7' (the required side yard) distance from the east property line and provided the expansion did not encroach into the 30' required rear yard. The parking lot could be expanded to the north and/or west.

Altered Facts

1. The property is zoned B-1 general business district. In addition to the grocery store, a 15' high x 30' long billboard advertising "Eat at Joe's" exists 10' from the west line and 25' from the south line.

Altered Analysis

1. A determination needs to be made which use (the grocery or billboard) is the "principal use". Assuming the principal use of the property is the grocery store, that use remains lawful (grocery stores permitted in the B-1 zoning district). The building remains non-conforming (does not meet the front and side yard requirements). The billboard, although a conforming structure (one that meets the front, side and rear yard requirements) constitutes a lawful but non-conforming use, i.e. billboards are not an authorized principal use in the B-1 zoning district. Off premises advertising signs are not an authorized accessory use in the B-1 district.

Altered Facts

1. The property is zoned RR Rural Residential. The lot is used as the site for a mobile home dwelling. The lot is non-conforming as to lot area. The home can be expanded even though the extent of non-conforming in lot area will increase, provided the Code's other bulk regulations are met.

ARTICLE X

§10.01 SPECIAL USE REGULATIONS

- A. Purpose. Certain uses of land, by their very nature, and because of their unique characteristics cannot be permitted in a particular zoning district without special consideration being given to the characteristics of surrounding property, the characteristics of the site itself and the impact such a use would have on adjoining or nearby property. The Zoning Code authorizes some such uses by special use permit. The purpose of this section is to specify standards that must be met before the issuance of a special use permit. In addition to the underlying zoning district regulations and the general standards applicable to all Special Use requests, each Special Use shall meet the specific standards set fourth for that particular use and any conditions imposed by the County Commissioners in the ordinance granting the Special Use Permit.

Special Uses fall into two categories:

1. Uses publicly operated or traditionally affected with a public interest.
 2. Uses entirely private in character, but of such a nature that their existence or operation may uniquely impact neighboring property or public facilities.
- B. Initiation of Special Use Applications. Applications for special use permits may be initiated by the County Commissioners; the Zoning Administrator, at the direction of the County Commissioners, the owner of, or a party to a valid and enforceable purchase option contract pertaining to, the property to which the special use permit will be attached.

Special Use Permit

Counties have no specific statutory authority to create or utilize special use permits. Nevertheless, the Illinois Supreme Court has found implicit authority, see Kotrich v. County of DuPage, 19 Il. 2d 181, 166 N.E. 2d 601 (1960). The court held: “instead of excluding such uses entirely from certain zones because of the harm they might cause or, despite the potential harm, including them because of the benefit they will bring, the special use technique allows a more flexible approach. It contemplates that the County Board may permit the uses where desirable and if necessary impose conditions designed to protect nearby property owners. This seems to be an effective method of dealing with a narrow but difficult problem of land use control.”

Special uses are admittedly “difficult”. They have been used to solve a variety of land use problems and their application has become anything but “narrow”; prompting at least one commentator to suggest, no doubt facetiously, that counties should “make every use a special use” as a way of avoiding judicial constraints on conditional or contract zoning.

There is a split of judicial authority on whether a special use permit is “legislative” like a zoning map or text amendment or administrative or quasi-judicial like a “variation”. Menard County has opted to characterize special use permits as legislative. Special use permits involve 3 steps.

1. The County’s legislative discretion is exercised when the zoning text is adopted to create the special use category and to establish the conditions which must be met to obtain the permit.
2. The process through which a specific request for a special use permit is reviewed and recommended for approval or denial is administrative or quasi-judicial, i.e. does the factual evidence presented show that the standards have, or can be, met through the imposition of certain conditions. That fact-finding responsibility rests with the Zoning Board of Appeals.
3. The decision to deny, grant or grant with conditions the requested special use permit is a legislative decision that rests with the County Commissioners.

C. Processing.

1. Application for a Special Use. All requests for Special Use Permits other than those initiated by the County Commissioners or by the Zoning Administrator at the direction of the County Commissioners shall only be accepted when filed on the proper application forms submitted to the Zoning Administrator, which application form shall require the submission of a sketch plan drawn to scale showing the location and dimensions of all existing and proposed buildings, structures, driveways, parking areas with spaces marked and numbered, light poles or fixtures, landscaping that which is to be planted and such existing landscaping as is to be retained. Where such applications are required, the information request on them is deemed to be a minimum and applicants may be required to supply additional information prior to hearings on their requests. Such forms shall be filed in duplicate as a prerequisite to the commencement of any action on the part of Menard County except that if the sketch plan is filed on anything other than 8 ½ x 11-inch paper, 15 copies shall be submitted. The Zoning Administrator shall forward a copy of the application to the Zoning Board of Appeals.
2. Notification and Hearing Procedure. The Zoning Board of Appeals shall give notice and hold at least one (1) administrative public hearing on the proposed Special Use in the manner provided in Section XIII B3b. If variations to the bulk, sign and off-street parking regulations of this code would otherwise be necessary for the development proposal, such proposal shall be exempt from the administrative public hearing on the variation request and such review procedure shall be deemed to occur simultaneously with the Zoning Board of Appeals' administrative public hearing and recommendation on the Special Use Permit application.

3. Action by Zoning Board of Appeals.
 - a. Findings of Fact. No Special Use Permit shall be recommended by the Zoning Board of Appeals until written Finding of Fact are made indicating:

The County Commissioners shall specify stipulations and conditions in the resolution granting the Special Use Permit.
5. Minor Changes. Minor changes in the location, siting, and height of structures may be authorized by the Zoning Administrator, however, no such change may involve a change in the character of the development, or a substantial increase in the intensity of use, reduction of parking spaces, or landscaping requirements.
6. Major Changes. Decisions concerning major changes in the location, sitting and height of structures, any change in the character of the development or a substantial increase in the intensity of use, reduction of parking spaces, or landscaping shall be made by the County Commissioners, after the Zoning Board of Appeals conducts an additional administrative public hearing and submits a recommendation on such proposed changes or deviations. ARTICLE XI

§11.01 APPEALS

- A. Authority. The Zoning Board of Appeals may modify the Zoning Administrator's orders, requirements, determinations, interpretations, or applications of this Code, but shall do so only where the Zoning Administrator has either misinterpreted or erroneously applied the provisions of this Code or has misunderstood the factual situation giving rise to the appeal.
- B. Initiation. An appeal may be taken to the Zoning Board of Appeals by any person aggrieved by a decision of the Zoning Administrator.
- C. Procedure.
1. Application. An appeal shall be initiated by filing, in duplicate, a written statement of the order, requirements, determination, interpretation, or application appealed from and the factual situation giving rise to such action, in the office of the Zoning Administrator. Upon receipt of a completed application and required fee, one (1) copy thereof will be forwarded to the Zoning Board of Appeals by the Zoning Administrator.
 2. Notification and Hearing. The Zoning Board of Appeals shall give notice and conduct an administrative public hearing on any appeal in the manner provided by section XIII B3b of this Code.
- D. Standards in Reviewing an Appeal. The Zoning Board of Appeals shall prepare findings of fact from the evidence adduced at the administrative public hearing indicating the extent to which the following items are demonstrated:
1. That the Zoning Administrator misinterpreted or erroneously applied the provisions of the Code;
 2. That the Zoning Administrator misunderstood the factual situation giving rise to the appeal.

The Zoning Board of Appeals may modify or reverse the action of the Zoning Administrator if either of the foregoing standards is demonstrated. If neither of the foregoing standards is demonstrated, the appeal shall be denied and the Zoning Administrator's action sustained.

The Zoning Board of Appeals in hearing appeals shall not have the authority or power to change, modify, waive, or relax requirements or regulations of this code.

- E. Vote. The concurring vote of four (4) members of the Zoning Board of Appeals is necessary to reverse the Zoning Administrator.
- F. Decisions. All decisions of the Zoning Board of Appeals on appeals initiated hereunder shall be final and reviewable only in the courts in accordance with applicable Statutes of the State of Illinois.
- G. Stay. An appeal stays all proceedings in furtherance of the action appeal from, unless the Zoning Administrator certifies to the Zoning Board of Appeals that by reasons of facts stated in the certificate a stay would cause imminent peril to life or property, in which case proceedings shall not be stayed otherwise than by a restraining order issued by the Zoning Board of Appeals or by judicial action.

“Appeals”

An individual wants to open a “bed and breakfast” in an existing structure on property zoned “M-1 Manufacturing District”. The Zoning Code does not list “bed and breakfast” as a permitted or special use in that zoning district. “Motels” and “restaurants” are both listed as permitted uses in that district. The landowner’s realtor calls his friend, a member of the Board of County Commissioners, to ask if it is all right to open the bed and breakfast. The County Commissioner is enthusiastic and responds “the County could really use something like that”. Based on that response, the individual buys the land, starts remodeling and places a “grand opening” ad in the local paper.

ANALYSIS

The power to interpret and construe the Zoning Code is vested in the Zoning Administrator, not the Zoning Board of Appeals, not the Planning Commission, not the Board of County Commissioners, and certainly not any individual Board of Commission member.

In the example the property owner should ask the Zoning Administrator for a written interpretation of the Code, i.e. is a “bed and breakfast” the same as a “motel” and/or “restaurant” and therefore permitted in the manufacturing district or is a “bed and breakfast” a different use.

If the Zoning Administrator interprets the Code to find that the uses are not the same, the Zoning Administrator should notify the property owner that the property cannot be used lawfully as a “bed and breakfast”. If remodeling continued, the Zoning Administrator should contact that State’s Attorney’s office and Menard County should seek judicial assistance in the form of a fine (for the violation of the zoning code) or injunctive relief (to force compliance with the code). The individual desiring to build the “bed and breakfast” has several alternatives:

1. forget the idea
2. find a place in a zoning district that specifically permits a bed and breakfast (if such location exists).
3. Appeal the Zoning Administrator/s interpretation to the Zoning Board of Appeals and from the Zoning Board of Appeals to the Circuit Court
4. Attempt to persuade the County Commissioners to initiate a text amendment to specifically permit bed and breakfasts as a permitted use in the M-1 Manufacturing district, a process that will require a public hearing before the Zoning Board of Appeals and a legislative decision by the Board of County Commissioners before work can continue assuming the text amendment is made. Just because bed and breakfasts are permitted in residential and commercial districts does not mean they are permitted in manufacturing districts. Menard County does not have “cumulative zoning”.
5. Attempt to persuade the County Commissioners to rezone the property from M-1 to a classification that permits bed and breakfast establishments.

If on the other hand, the Zoning Administrator interprets the code to find that the uses were the same, the person desiring to build the “bed and breakfast” can proceed subject to the appeal rights of any person “aggrieved” by the decision of the Zoning Administrator. It is the Zoning Administrator in the first instance who determines who is, or is not “aggrieved”. That determination is also subject to appeal to the Zoning Board of Appeals and from the Zoning Board of Appeals to the Circuit Court.

Seeking a “variation” would be an appropriate alternative because the problem does not deal with the property owner’s inability to comply with some “bulk” regulation of the zoning ordinance.

Seeking a “variance” or “use variance” would not be appropriate because “use variances” are not authorized by Menard County’s Zoning Code.

The initiation of a request for a special use permit would not be an appropriate remedy in this situation because the list of authorized “special uses” in the manufacturing district does not include “bed and breakfast”. It might be possible for the property owner to persuade the County Commissioners to initiate a zoning text amendment to specifically permit “bed and breakfasts” as a “special use” in the manufacturing district. If that approach were pursued it would require a public hearing before the Zoning Board of Appeals on the text amendment, action by the Board of County Commissioners on the text amendment, and if the text amendment is made, the filing of an application for a special use permit, a public hearing on that application before the Zoning Board of Appeals and final action to grant or deny the special use permit by the Board of Commissioners before remodeling work could continue assuming the special use permit is created by the text amendment and granted by the County Commissioners. The two applications cannot be processed simultaneously since there is no authority (or standards) for the special use permit until the text amendment has been made.

ARTICLE XII

§12.01 VARIATIONS.

- A. Authority. The Zoning Board of Appeals may permit variations to the bulk, sign and off-street parking regulations of this Code but shall do so only when the granting of such a variation would be in harmony with the Code's general purpose and intent and may vary them only in specific instances where there would be practical difficulties or particular hardships in the way of carrying out the strict letter of the bulk, sign and/or off-street parking regulations of this Code and then only in the manner provided herein. Except with respect to bulk, sign, and off-street parking requirements, the Zoning Board of Appeals in permitting variations, does not have the authority or power to change, modify, waive or relax other requirements or regulations of this Code. The County does not permit "use variances".

Variations

The variation procedure is a "safety valve" in the Zoning Ordinance. It should not become a gaping hole through which all land use regulation escapes.

Variations may relax bulk regulations, sign regulations and off street parking regulations only. Variations don't:

- a. authorize uses that are not authorized elsewhere;
- b. permit the expansion of non-conforming uses;
- c. waiver or modify the procedures established by this code, or
- d. waive pre-requisites to lawful use or occupancy.

Menard County does not permit "use variances". If a use is not authorized as a permitted or special use by specific reference or through the Zoning Administrator's interpretation and/or appeal, it is not authorized. The way to obtain authorization is to amend the Code.

- B. Initiation. An application for a variation may be made by the County Commissioners, the Zoning Administrator at the direction of the County Commissioners, or by the owner of, or parties to an enforceable purchase option contract pertaining to the property to which the variation request pertains.

C. Procedure.

1. Application. All requests for variations other than those initiated by or on behalf of the County Commissioners shall only be accepted when filed in duplicate with 15 copies of any material not submitted on 8 ½ x 11 paper or on proper application forms furnished through the office of the Zoning Administrator and after payment of the required fee. Where such applications are required, the information requested is deemed to be a minimum, and applicants may be required to supply additional information prior to public hearings on their request. Such forms shall be filed in duplicate as a prerequisite to the commencement of any action on the part of the County. The Zoning Administrator, when in receipt of a completed application form, shall forward one (1) copy thereof to the Zoning Board of Appeals for action by said Board.

2. Hearing. No variation shall be granted or denied by the Zoning Board of Appeals except after an administrative public hearing before the Zoning Board of Appeals, conducted in a manner provided in Section XIII B3b of this code.

D. Standards. The Zoning Board of Appeals shall prepare findings of fact from the evidence presented at the administrative public hearing indicating the extent to which the following items are demonstrated:

1. That the granting of the variation will be in harmony with the purpose and intent of this Ordinance and will not be injurious to the neighborhood, or otherwise detrimental to the public welfare.
2. That the property in question cannot yield a reasonable return if permitted to be used only under the conditions allowed by the bulk, sign, or off-street parking regulations of the zoning classification of the property in question.
3. The plight of the owner is due to special circumstances.

If each of the foregoing standards are met, the Zoning Board of Appeals shall grant the variation. If they are not, the Board shall deny the variation.

The Board in its findings of fact, may impose any conditions or restrictions on the granting of the requested variation which it deems necessary to insure that the standards are met.

If such conditions or restrictions are imposed, the Board shall specify with particularity as part of the Findings of Fact the specific restrictions or conditions and the standards to which they pertain.

E. Decisions.

1. All decisions of the Zoning Board of Appeals on variations shall be final and reviewable only in the courts in accordance with the applicable statutes of the State of Illinois.
2. Unless otherwise specified by the Board, any order of decision of the Board authorizing a variation, will expire if the applicant fails to utilize the variation within one year from the date of the decision.

ARTICLE XIII

§13.01 ADMINISTRATION AND ENFORCEMENT

1. Interpret, construe and apply the provisions of this Code;
 2. Notify any person responsible for violating any of the provisions of this Code, indicating the nature of the violation and ordering the action necessary to correct the violation;
 3. Order discontinuance of uses of land, buildings or structures; order removal of buildings or structures; order alteration or structural changes of buildings or structures; order discontinuance of work being done; or take any other action individually or in cooperation with the Menard County State's Attorney to insure compliance with or to prevent violation of the provisions of this code;
 4. Maintain records of all nonconformities;
 5. Issue zoning and occupancy permits, and make and maintain records thereof;
 6. Enforce the provisions of all Special Use Permits and variations;
 7. Conduct inspections of building, structures, and use of land to determine compliance with this code;

 10. Initiate, direct and review, from time to time, a study of the provisions of this code, and make reports and recommendations to the County Commissioners;
 11. Supervise and direct such assistants, including the Zoning Officer as may be authorized by the County Commissioners.

The Zoning Administrator

“No doubt the ideal system, if it were attainable would be a code at once so flexible and so minute as to supply in advance for every conceivable situation that just and fitting rule. But life is too complex to bring the attainment of this ideal within the compass of human power”.

Benjamin N. Cardozo, quoted in “Phillip K. Howard, The Death of Common Sense”

Zoning laws like any laws, need to be interpreted and applied. The responsibility, in the first instance, for interpreting and applying this zoning rests with the Zoning Administrator.

In Menard County, the Zoning Administrator is appointed by the County Board and is responsible for the implementation of the zoning code to the end that the County Commissioners purpose and intent is carried out.

Where there are questions, ambiguities, or uncertainties, it is the Zoning Administrator that first answers, clarifies and decides. Those disappointed or aggrieved by the determinations of the Zoning Administrator have appeal rights as provided in the code.

The Zoning Administrator is a County employee whose responsibility is to say “no” when that officer’s best judgment says that the request is inconsistent with the code. Such decisions should not be construed as a personal attack on any particular applicant or proponent but should be seen as the only realistic way the County can achieve the dual, often conflicting goals of predictability and flexibility.

The notice shall contain: (1) the particular location of the real estate by legal description and street address, and if no street address then by locating such real estate with reference to any well-known landmark highway, road, thoroughfare or intersection; (2) whether or not the petitioner or applicant is acting for himself or in the capacity of agent, alter ego, or representative of a principal, and stating the name and address of the actual and true principal; (3) whether petitioner or applicant is a corporation, and if a corporation, the correct names and addresses of all officers and directors, and of all stockholders or shareholders owning any interest in excess of 20% of all outstanding stock of such corporation; (4) whether the petitioner or applicant, or his principal if other than applicant, is a business or entity doing business under an assumed name, and if so, the name and residence of all true and actual owners of such business or entity; (5) whether the petitioner or applicant is a partnership, joint venture, syndicate or an unincorporated voluntary association, and if so, the names and addresses of all partners, joint ventures, syndicated members or member of the unincorporated voluntary association; and (6) a brief description of the matter being considered at the public hearing.

Costs of taking such a transcript shall be paid by the requesting party. Any party desiring a transcript of the proceedings shall pay all transcription or copying costs.
- (5) Preparation of Finding of Fact. From the evidence presented to the Board during the administrative public hearing, the board shall prepare findings of fact responsive to the standards established by the code for the particular item under consideration and forward the Findings of Fact and any recommendation to the County Commissioners.

Findings of Fact

One of the most important responsibilities of the Zoning Board of Appeals in the Administrative Public Hearing Process is to make “findings of fact”. It is the findings of fact that demonstrate whether or not the standards established by the County Commissioners have or have not been met. It is that determination, i.e. whether the standards have or have not been met, that decides whether the requested relief should be recommended by the Zoning Board of Appeals and granted by the County Commissioners.

Example

Assume one of the standards specified in the code requires evidence that a proposed special use will provide “safe and efficient access from the proposed use to and from the adjacent public road”.

Witness A testifies that the conditions in the area are “unsafe”.

Witness B testifies that there is an oak tree existing along the east property line of the subject property 10’ from the right-of-way that blocks visibility to the east.

Witness C testifies that neighborhood children will be killed by the reckless teenagers that the proposed use will attract. The witness concludes that it will be the Zoning Board of Appeal members that are responsible for the death of these children if the use is approved.

Witness D testifies to the speed limits along the road, the location of nearby school bus stop areas and the sight distances to the crown of the nearest hill.

Witness E brings in police reports concerning accidents at a similar facility in Sangamon County.

Witness F indicates that the traffic to and from the proposed use will cause the roads to prematurely deteriorate in a significant cost to the taxpayers of Menard County.

Witness G, the proponent, testifies that he plans to cut down the tree and design a parking lot set back more than 30’ from the road right-of-way.

The Zoning Board of Appeals must sort through this testimony and decide what is “factual” and which “facts” are pertinent to the applicable standards. It is suggested that the testimony of Witness A and C are merely “opinions”, the testimony of Witness F, while factual, really isn’t pertinent to the actual standard and the testimony of the remaining witnesses is the sort of specific factual information that should be received by the Zoning Board of Appeals and incorporated into the Board’s findings of fact. It is for the Zoning Board of Appeals to determine how relevant testimony like the testimony of Witness E really is. The weight to be given that testimony largely depends on how “similar” the two situations really are. The decision as to whether the standard is or is not met rests with the Zoning Board of Appeals but should be made on the factual evidence presented.

- (6) Notification of Decision. Copies of findings of fact and decisions or recommendations of the Board shall be served by mailing a copy thereof to all parties other than the County.
- (7) Rules and Procedures. The Zoning Board of Appeals, may adopt its own rules and procedures, not in conflict with this code.

- c. Legislative Public Hearings.
 - (1) All legislative public hearing shall be regularly scheduled or properly called meetings of the Zoning Board of Appeals.
 - (2) Legal Notices.
 - (a) Legal notices of a legislative public hearing shall be given at least 15 days before the hearing by publication in a newspaper of general circulation published in such county. Hearings on text amendments shall be held in the courthouse of the county or such county building with more adequate facilities for such hearing. Hearings on map amendments and subdivision plans shall be held in the road district affected by the terms of such proposed amendment or plan or in the court house, or other county building with more adequate facilities for such hearings, of the county in which the affected road district is located. Provided, that if the owner of any property affected by such proposed map amendment or plan so requests in writing, such hearing shall be held in the road district affected by the terms of such proposed amendment.
 - (b) Courtesy notices may be given by the mailing of a notice of hearing to the owners of any land within 400 feet from the parcel on which action is proposed and/or by posting the property.
 - (3) Legislative Public Hearing Procedure.
 - (a) Appearances. Any person may appear and testify at a legislative public hearing, either in person or by duly authorized agent or attorney.
 - (b) Oaths. The Chairman, may administer oaths or affirmations.
